

Keep your business running smoothly.

Protect your operations — and your inventory.

When it comes to your business, timing, efficiency and planning can make all the difference in your success. However, there are common risks you need to protect against to keep your business operating on track. Nationwide auto parts wholesalers and distributors insurance can help you manage disruptions and minimize your losses so you can make sure your business stays on time, every time.

Covering the unexpected.

Running your business takes hard work, and so does predicting its future. That's why our auto parts wholesalers and distributors insurance protects you from common risks businessowners face, including power outages that affect your computer systems, spoiled, stolen or damaged inventory, damaged trucks, or potential liability if a customer is injured on your property.

Extend your protection.

SEASONAL INCREASE:

Allows you to receive more coverage when you're holding higher levels of inventory during peak periods of business.

INLAND MARINE FLOATER TRANSIT COVERAGE:

Provides added insurance when you ship inventory greater than $2 million in value.

WHOLESALE PLUS:

Adds coverage or increases limits for things like worldwide laptop coverage and unauthorized business card use, as well as coverage for your brands and labels.

Setting the standard in business protection.

With Nationwide, these core coverages come standard.

PREMIER BUSINESSOWNERS LIABILITY INSURANCE:

Helps cover medical and legal fees if, for example, a customer slips and falls in your facility or the insured incurs expenses while defending against a lawsuit.

EQUIPMENT BREAKDOWN:

Covers equipment, machinery, computer systems or other similar processing equipment if it is damaged or breaks down.

BUSINESS INTERRUPTION AND EXTRA EXPENSE:

Helps cover income that is lost due to suspension of your business operations. This includes common interruptions like property damage repair, system outages and more.
